NOTES OF THE WEEK.

The Cousins Society will meet this evening at the residence of Dr. O. S. Cummings.

Another party of opium smokers were surprised by the police during the week and brought before the magistrate. One of them Ah Sam was convicted and fined $50. The other man got off.

The ordinances of baptism and the Lord's Supper will be administered at Fort Street Church on Sunday morning, and ten persons are to be received to membership. In the evening Mr. Cruzan will preach a sermon to business men.

Mr. D. W. Clark has returned from the Coast, and has brought with him a very fine assortment of watches, clocks, and jewelry, which he has opened out in a part of the store occupied by Mr. Wm. Johnson, on Fort Street. Particulars of his varied stock will be given shortly in our advertising columns.

A correspondent at Kapa, Kauai, writes that the Hallidie wire ropeway which has been in course of construction on Kaula Plantation, was finished last week and is a complete success. It keeps the mill well supplied with a steady stream of cane and is giving greater satisfaction every day. Col. Spaulding is thoroughly pleased with the success of this tramway, and is quite enthusiastic on the subject of its merits.

The old Government premises on Fort Street, opposite the Enterprise planing mill, have just been leased by Mr. Philip Stein, as a carriage factory. The buildings are being enlarged and repaired and business will be commenced as soon as Mr. Stein's stock of materials, etc., are all hauled from the Coast. Mr. Stein's reputation and personal energy will no doubt secure for him success in his new enterprise.

At St. Andrew's Cathedral to-morrow, the Rev. A. Macintosh's course of Sunday evening lectures on the Anglican Prayer Book will be continued. "The History of the Prayer Book" being the subject. The Rev. T. Blackburn, B. A., intends proceeding with the course on "Christianity and Modern Science," by lecturing next Wednesday evening on "Incorruptions in the Bible." The Rev. T. Blackburn will be the preacher to-morrow morning also.

There will be a match game of baseball this afternoon on the old drill ground between the "Infants" and the Honolulu Base Ball Club. The Club's team will be captained by Mr. Harry Whitney and their opponents by Mr. J. Hay Wodehouse, junior. Both teams are strong and it is likely that there will be a really good match. This is the only game that has been arranged for this afternoon to be played on this ground.

The reserve at Makiki, which has been appropriated for the use of the Honolulu Athletic Association, has been cleared of weeds and leveled where uneven, a body of prisoners having been at work upon it all the week. A supply of water is being laid on to the ground and it is expected that the football work will be commenced to-morrow. Until the work of improvement is completed and the weather is more settled, there will be no lawn tennis games organized on the ground.

Mr. Dodd's latest idea is the building of an Omnibus on the American plan, which will soon make its appearance in our thoroughfares. This Bus is to be a four-wheeled vehicle, with a comfortable seating thirty adults, and will no doubt be well patronized. Spaces have been arranged for business advertisements, and the ornamental frames with glass covering will set the advertisements off to great advantage. Selections for spaces can now be seen at the office of J. E. Wiseman, who is managing this department.

The fine and very completely stocked drug store of Hollister & Co., on Nuanuan street, is one of the notable business successes of this city. We all remember the plain cigar and soda water stand of a few years. How it has grown to the present well appointed establishment, fitted for the needs of a city with every line of the drug business, wholesale and retail fully represented, under the superintendence of Mr. Smith, whose experience and knowledge qualify him as a trustworthy preparer and dispenser of drugs. Hollister & Co. are eminently deserving of the liberal patronage they have received.

Ah Yung alias Tuck Sum, who imported the goods per P. M. S. Australia which were seized by Port-Surveyor Morrill, on account of the charge of smuggling opium, and was sentenced to a fine of $300 and to two months' hard labor. Judge Bickerton in passing sentence said that he had taken into consideration the plea of guilty and the fact that the confiscation of the opium and of the parcel of goods in which it was included, involved a loss of $2000 to the owner or owners. An appeal to the Supreme Court was noted by Mr. Davidson, who was counsel for the defendant.

The first of a series of unique entertainments entitled "Evenings in Foreign Lands," will be given in Fort Street Church next Wednesday evening. The country visited will be Japan. The excellent choir of the Church will furnish some choice music, and there will be the following literary exercises: 1. Five minutes with the map of Japan, an address by Mrs. Cruzan. 2. A twenty minutes lecture on the Government of Japan, home and social life and customs of Japan, by Professor Scott. 3. Eight minutes on the old Religions of Japan, by Mrs. J. M. Whitney. 4. Eight minutes address on Christianity in Japan, by Judge McCully. It is the intention to go around the world, visiting all the prominent countries, in this series of entertainments. This will give those who desire to travel an opportunity to gratify that desire without expense or sea-sickness. There will be no charge for admission, and in order accommodate all with comfortable seats, the audience room will be used. A general invitation is given.

King Kalakaua appears to have the faculty of inspiring musical composers. Copies of a new piece of dance music for the piano, entitled the "Kalakaua Gavotte" were received here by the last mail from Europe. This Gavotte has been composed by Mr. M. H. Sygne, a brother of the Mr. Follett Sygne who was deported by the British Government to attend upon His Majesty during his stay in the United Kingdom. It is dedicated by permission to His Majesty King Kalakaua, G. C. M. G.

Mr. Dodd has an advertisement in this issue of the Advertiser on the subject of street sprinkling, to which our subjects will do well to give their attention. Experience of one or two windy days during the past week ought to cause anyone who has goods to be spoiled and customers to be kept away from him by the state of the streets in dusty weather, or eyes of his own with which to suffer when he goes up the street, to reflect before he declines to contribute to the watering the streets. Unless the contribution for this purpose is general, the same time those otherwise willing to contribute will cease to do so on the ground that they will not pay for their share and let others who get equal benefit, get off scot free.

A meeting of the Honolulu Cricket Club will be held on Monday, March 6th, at 8 p.m., at the Hawaiian Hotel, to take into consideration 1. The position in which the Club is placed through the arrangements recently made by His Excellency the Minister of the Interior, to give exclusive rights to the ground hitherto used by the Club, to the Honolulu Athletic Association. 2.—The relations which should exist between the Club and the Athletic Association. 3.—The position and prospects of the Club generally. A full attendance is particularly required. It is quite likely that H. B. M. S. Trump will make his appearance at this meeting, and that, which cannot be is to be hoped that the club will be able to put a good team in the field for a match with their naval friends.

On the morning of Wednesday last, a native woman named Olukha the wife of Makole, residing at Mr. J. H. Boyd's place at Kaula, Kauai, attempted to commit suicide with a hatchet. She inflicted two wounds on the left side of her head. Her husband was out of the house at the time, and she took the opportunity to fasten the door. Makole and others returning together, heard a noise in the house, and finding the door locked, broke it in, and caught her in the act. She told them she did not want to live any longer. Besides the hatchet, there were a hammer and saw lying on the floor beside her. The last account to hand, is that she is progressing favorably towards recovery from the effect of her self-inflicted injuries.

A. B. Rowe was charged before Judge Bickerton, to-day, with poisoning and giving liquor to native Hawaiians. Kekaha and Joe Brown gave evidence that they went to Rowe's shop last Saturday, and that he gave Joe two bottles of gin, for which the latter paid him $22. The police stopped Joe at the corner of Nuanuan and King streets, and discovered the gin in his possession. Defendant denied the charge, and said that all that passed when the men were at his shop was that Kekaha wanted some gin, and that he gave him some. According to the evidence of the witnesses, Kekaha and Joe gave evidence that they were at Rowe's shop, and saw Kekaha and Joe there, but saw no liquor pass to the latter. This contradictory evidence seemed for Rowe an acquittal, but he was to be on his trial again to-day for selling without a license.

The good people of Waikuku suffered a great disappointment through the non-arrival of His Majesty on Wednesday week last. They had made extensive and right loyal preparations for the reception. Arches were erected, luau and a ball organized, and a procession to meet the King at Maalea Bay. There was no opportunity for them to receive any warning, and about five o'clock on Wednesday the King's ship, the "Albatross," came to anchor. The reception and ball were to have been in the Union School house at Waikuku, and were under the management of a committee consisting of Messrs. J. D. Spreckels, W. H. Cornwell, W. H. Bailey, J. K. Richardson, J. Hauke, W. K. Makakoa, J. W. Girvin and Dr. Enders. The programme was to be repeated this week but His Majesty's determination to leave here by the Iwalei instead of the Likie like would render a change in the arrangements necessary.

By reference to the programme published in another column, it will be seen that our musical public are to have a rare treat at the concert to be given next Thursday evening, at Fort Street Church. A female pianist, who has been with such success as those of Mrs. Cruzan, Miss Parke, Miss Rhodes and Mrs. Brown will undoubtedly be a pleasant innovation. The strong, superb soprano of Mrs. Paty, and the rich, clear, sympathetic voice of Mrs. Hanford are always a delight. Mrs. E. P. Adams is to give two of her inimitable readings. The names of gentlemen on the programme are a guarantee that their parts will also be a feast of good things. The admission is put at the low price of one dollar, the proceeds to be used in the purchase of a new instrument for the church. The church, which is now in the hands of the church, is to be sold at T. G. Thurman's, on the corner of the Palace and Government buildings; its boundaries are Richard-street, Beretania-street, and Miller-street on one side; Punch-bowl-street on the other, and the harbor. No. 9 extends eastwards from Punch-bowl-street, as far as Victoria-street, sweeping round from Punch-bowl hill to the sea. No. 10 is still further out, and is bounded by Victoria-street, the slope of Punch-bowl, the water-course that runs in front of the Palace, and the shore of the harbor. No. 11 takes in the rest of the city as far as Punch-bowl-street, and the land makai of King-street to the one and three-quarter mile circle. The suburban districts, as these lines or No. 12 ward, and No. 13 are the harbor.

A fire was discovered about two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon in the harness room at the rear of the residence of Major Wodehouse in Emma-street. An alarm was rung and the firemen turned out with commendable promptitude, but unfortunately the fire was not put out before their arrival on the scene, and before any serious mischief was caused by the flames. An examination of the premises disclosed the alarming fact that this fire was the deliberate work of an incendiary. Kerosene had apparently been poured on some hay which was lying in the building in which the fire occurred and the hay had been subsequently ignited by a match placed through a knot-hole in the wall of the room. Between that wall and the fence which divides the grounds of Major Wodehouse from the adjacent property is a space about two feet wide in which whoever was engaged in this mischief could be concealed. Traces of his presence were left in the form of unburnt matches which had apparently fallen to light when struck. Escape after the deed was done was easy enough by climbing the fence referred to and passing through the grounds of the German Club or some of the yards attached to native premises in Punch-bowl-street. It may be conjectured that the scamp, who ever he may have been, was alarmed before he completed his work, as a bundle of papers saturated with kerosene was found under the harness-room which did not appear to have been lighted, although evidently put there for the purpose. A quantity of hay similarly saturated was also found in an old wardrobe which was in the harness-room. Evidently the rascal knew something about the premises and probably he had been there before to make his preparations for the intended mischief. Why he should have chosen an hour for putting a light to the place when his mischief must necessarily be promptly discovered, it is not easy to imagine. Major Wodehouse is very much at a loss to imagine who owned him such a spite to lead him to take so serious a revenge. The only person whom suspicion rests upon is a Chinese boy who was some little time ago dismissed from employment in the house, and who is believed to have entertained a grudge against one of Major Wodehouse's sons.

At an adjourned meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, held on Thursday night, the By-Laws under the new Constitution were considered and adopted. A lengthy discussion occurred as to the bearing upon the status of old members of the association, of the provision in the new Constitution, that only those who are members of the Young Men's Christian Association shall have the right of voting at meetings of the association, and of holding office. A majority of those present held that this provision only applied to new members, but no resolution on the subject was passed. It was resolved to print the Charter, Constitution and By-Laws of the Association, with a list of all persons who have ever been members, distinguishing the names of those who have died, and those who have ceased to be members, either through removal or otherwise, from those of the present members of the association, by a mark. A committee consisting of Dr. Hyde and Mr. P. C. Jones was appointed to assist the Secretary in compiling this list. The next regular meeting of the Association will be held on the evening of Thursday, 16th inst. It is expected that the plans of the proposed new building for the Association will then be ready for consideration by the members.

The work of widening Queen-street is approaching completion. The award of the referees as to compensations payable for land taken, etc., and as to increased value to property in the street in consequence of the widening, has been rendered, and was on Tuesday filed in the office of the Registrar of Conveyances in accordance with the statute. The amounts payable are $1,100 to the contractor for Mr. Campbell's building for altering foundations, etc., $650 to Mr. Campbell for land, and $951 33 to the estate of the late General Miller for land. Besides these amounts the cost of altering the buildings occupied by Messrs. A. S. Cleghorn & Co., and Theo. H. Davies has to be paid. The contract price for that work was about $1,600. The formation of the new portion of the street and footpaths will be completed to-day. The expenditures the Government recoups itself by collecting from the several owners of property in the neighborhood of the improvement, the amounts by which (as the referees have certified) their properties and holdings are bettered in value by the change. These several contributions amount to $3,643 35. Had the matter been attended to a little more promptly, the compensation to Mr. Lucas for the alterations in Mr. Campbell's building might have been less, and this levy upon property-holders would then have more than covered the whole cost of the change. The awards to claimants for loss of ground are very moderate and each of them has to pay back a considerable sum for "betterment" which is valued at $4 per foot of frontage to Queen-street. In Mr. Campbell's case this amounts to $640, so that he only receives payment of the ignoble balance of $10.

The Fire Department have received from San Francisco, a number of lithograph copies of the plan of Honolulu, showing the new fire wards. This map is taken from the records of the Government Survey, and was compiled for the Fire Department by Mr. J. F. Brown. The various wards are distinguished by different colors. Circles are drawn on the map, showing the distances of various points in the town from the fire station. The map is a valuable addition to the records of the Fire Department, and will be of great service to the various wards who apply for them, and certainly no business office in town should be without one, as besides the information it affords as to the boundaries of the firewards, and the positions of hydrants, cisterns and artesian wells, it contains many details, especially as to the harbor and its immediate shores, which are not in any other published map, and it is the first map that has been compiled which shows the whole of the city from Palama to Punchbowl, and the value of the land as shown on the map. The division now adopted, there are thirteen firewards. No. 1 is altogether makai of School-street. No. 2 is bounded by Liliha-street, School-street, Fort-street and Beretania-street, and by the line of Beretania-street prolonged across Nuanuan Stream till it meets the Ewa road at the foot of Liliha-street. No. 3 lies between No. 2 and King-street, and has Fort-street for its south-east boundary. No. 4 lies makai of King-street, and is bounded by a line which is otherwise bounded by the harbor. It includes a majority of the business premises of the town. No. 5 lies from King-street to the Esplanade, bounded on one side by Fort-street, and on the other by Richard-street, also by the water. No. 6 is bounded by Fort-street, Richard-street, and Beretania-street, and includes the Bell Tower, the Hotel, &c. No. 7 lies makai of Beretania-street, between Fort, Miller, and Punchbowl streets, being bounded by the rear of School-street. No. 8 includes the Palace and Government buildings; its boundaries are Richard-street, Beretania-street, and Miller-street on one side; Punch-bowl-street on the other, and the harbor. No. 9 extends eastwards from Punchbowl-street, as far as Victoria-street, sweeping round from Punchbowl hill to the sea. No. 10 is still further out, and is bounded by Victoria-street, the slope of Punchbowl, the water-course that runs in front of the Palace, and the shore of the harbor. No. 11 takes in the rest of the city as far as Punchbowl-street, and the land makai of King-street to the one and three-quarter mile circle. The suburban districts, as these lines or No. 12 ward, and No. 13 are the harbor.

A fatal collision on board H. B. M. S. "Triumph."

May the London Times.]

A communique from an officer on board H. B. M. S. "Triumph," who is in the Pacific, states that a serious explosion occurred on board the ship, on the 22nd of November. The writer, who has escaped unharmed, says: "We had a terrible explosion of xeroline siccative on board here. It occurred on Tuesday last at 8 o'clock in the morning." The letter bears date November 27, so that it was written five days after the accident.

"Two men," the writer states, "were killed on the spot, and a third died on the afternoon of the following Saturday, while many were terribly burnt. The material which exploded was stored under the paint room, directly contrary to the Admiralty instructions. It appears that a man went there with a light, and he was literally blown to pieces. The beds in the 'sick bay' outside the paint room were wrenched out of the deck, and the men were thrown all over it. As I have already said, the explosion took place at 8 o'clock, and the second who was killed was 35 yards off. His death resulted from concussion of the brain. The man who died yesterday (Saturday) at 3 o'clock sustained frightful injuries. His thigh bone was broken, and he was blown away, and he died a terrible death. Strange to say, the painter, who was in the paint-room, was only badly burnt. There is at the time I am writing only one dangerous case among the injured—upon the head, who is suffering from severe internal injuries and concussion of the spine. At the time of the explosion I was walking up and down on deck and saw the explosion. I was very much frightened, and it was only yesterday that anyone could get near it owing to the gas which emanated from it."

The substance which has thus been the cause of a serious accident is commonly known as "painter's oil," and is used in ironclads to prevent corrosion between the double bottoms. The "Triumph" is an iron steamship of 6,640 tons, carrying engines of 4,800 horse-power, with an armament of 14 guns. She is commanded by Capt. Albert H. Markham.

The following official statement in reference to the explosion on board Her Majesty's ship "Triumph," was issued for public information at the Admiralty, Whitehall, on Saturday, 24th inst. "With reference to the accident on board Her Majesty's ship 'Triumph' from the explosion of xeroline siccative, a telegram was received at the Admiralty on the 24th of November last from the Commander-in-Chief of the Pacific, to the following effect:—'Accident on board the Triumph. Xeroline siccative exploded, killing Davies, marine, Foxon, seaman, and injuring several other crew members. The vessel is damaged, and immediately informed, and telegraphic orders sent to all the stations that xeroline siccative was a dangerous explosive, and should be got rid of at once.'"

LAW AND PHYSIC.

The Lawyers and the Doctors, have been attracting a little attention of late. The Bar has been putting on a new shine, and looking up; but Bolus has been in a jower and a sour, and not at all in a good way. I was thinking on the subject, as I stood alone on the Bank corner the other morning, when old Uncle Jimmy came along.
